AMANPULO

Fact Sheet

Accessible only by private plane, Amanpulo is a secluded island hideaway in northern Palawan, Philippines. Fringed by white-sand beaches, turquoise waters and a coral reef, Pamalican Island is around an hour from Manila, yet feels a world away from anywhere. Amanpulo is the only property on the island, its airy Casitas and Villas opening to the 5.5-kilometres of coral sand that encircle a jungled area. With an Aman Spa, a poolside Clubhouse, laidback Beach Club and Lagoon Club, a Dive Centre and a seasonal Kite and Surf Centre, guests can be as active as they choose. Other diversions include tennis courts, island hikes, turtle spotting and exploring the kaleidoscopic reefs just offshore.

LOCATION

- Pamalican is part of the Quiniluban group of Cuyo Islands in northern Palawan, 360 kilometres south-west of Manila
- Seven kilometres of reef surround the 85-hectare island on which Olive Ridley, Hawksbill and Green Sea turtles nest

GETTING THERE

- Manila is accessed by daily direct flights from most Asian and international cities
- A complimentary car transfer from Manila airport to Amanpulo's private lounge and hangar is available for same-day flight connections
- From Manila, guests fly directly to Pamalican Island in a 14-seat, twin-engine turboprop, landing at Amanpulo's private airstrip. Flight time is 90 minutes each way

Accommodation

Elevated on the hillside or set by the beach, Amanpulo's Casitas and Villas were designed by acclaimed Filipino architect Francisco Mañosa. Inspired by traditional Philippine dwellings, they feature vaulted wooden ceilings, pebble-washed walls, coconut-shell tables and large Cebu marble bathrooms, along with private outdoor decks.
