Set in a secret garden at the heart of a 32-hectare forest, Aman Kyoto lies at the foot of Mount Hidari Daimonji, a stone's throw from Kyoto's golden Kinkaku-ji Temple and 16 other Unesco World Heritage Sites. The resort is nonetheless a secluded world apart: moss-covered boulders glow emerald-like in the lush undergrowth, winding footpaths link tranquil forest glades, and streams provide a soothing soundtrack broken only by bird-song.

The resort's two restaurants are open to both guests and non-residents. The Living Pavilion by Aman offers relaxed all-day dining, with elegant interiors arranged around a central fireplace, a spacious terrace and serene forest views. Based on the farm-to-table concept, its menu reflects the changing seasons with innovative borderless cuisine and homecooked Kyoto-style dishes. Open for lunch and dinner, Taka-An serves a constantly changing menu of exquisite kaiseki cuisine exploring the legacy of iconic artist and founder of the Rinpa school of painting, Hon'ami Koetsu.

Aman Kyoto's 26 latticed Guest Rooms, Suites and Pavilions pay contemporary homage to the traditional Japanese ryokan inn, strikingly minimalist in their geometry while framing spectacular natural surroundings. Starting at 60 square metres, interiors are spacious and light-filled, ingeniously crafted to foster peace, relaxation and contemplation at every turn.

Set in tranquil woodland, the resort's Aman Spa presents a wellness offering defined by nature in every way. Mineral-rich waters feed traditional onsen, while a range of treatments tap into Japan's plentiful natural apothecary. Both the elegant spa reception area and the relaxation lounge claim mesmerising forest views, as do three spacious treatment rooms.

Unlocking the secrets of Japan's ancient Imperial Capital, Aman Kyoto's bespoke Aman Journeys seek out the finest experiences of the region. These include exploring sacred temples, learning the art of Zen meditation or Ikebana flower arranging, and being welcomed into a traditional teahouse.

Aman Kyoto is situated in the district of Takagamine in Kyoto's north, surrounded by a 32-hectare forest, in the heart of a secret garden. This tranquil green space represents the fruition of a beautiful landscape, first conceived as the garden of a textile museum. Resting at the foot of Mount Hidari Daimonji, the property is a stone's throw from Kyoto's golden Kinkaku-ji Temple and 16 other Unesco World Heritage Sites. The resort is nonetheless a secluded world apart: moss-covered boulders glow emerald-like in the lush undergrowth, winding footpaths link tranquil forest glades, and streams provide a soothing soundtrack broken only by bird-song.

Approximately one hour by car from Osaka International Airport and 30 minutes from Kyoto Station, the resort is ideally placed for exploring the ancient temples, traditional teahouses and exquisite gardens of Kyoto. Known for its elusive geiko and maiko – the gracious custodians of Japan's revered art of hospitality – Kyoto was Japan's capital for 1,000 years and its heritage is apparent at every turn. Remaining true to the roots of its historic setting, Aman Kyoto was designed by Kerry Hill as a contemporary yet authentic sanctuary paying homage to the traditional Japanese ryokan inn. Ryokan have existed since the eighth century, typically in scenic rural areas with onsen – hot spring bathing facilities.

Aman Kyoto's 26 latticed Guest Rooms, Suites and Pavilions are strikingly minimalist in their geometry with ryokan features such as tatami matting and sliding doors. Starting at 60 square metres, interiors are spacious and light-filled, ingeniously crafted to foster peace, relaxation and contemplation at every turn.

The resort's two restaurants are open to both guests and non-residents. The Living Pavilion by Aman offers relaxed all-day dining, with elegant interiors arranged around a central fireplace, a spacious terrace and serene garden and forest views. Based on the farm-to-table concept, its menu reflects the changing seasons with innovative borderless cuisine and homecooked Kyoto-style dishes. Open for lunch and dinner, Taka-An serves a constantly changing menu of exquisite kaiseki cuisine exploring the legacy of iconic artist Hon'ami Koetsu. Famous as the founder of the Rinpa school of painting, he established an artist's village in Takagamine in the early 1600s. No meal is ever the same at Taka-An, as its omakase philosophy means that the chef guides what guests eat, based on the finest ingredients available. Guests can also enjoy picnics in the gardens and forest.

Set in tranquil woodland, the resort's Aman Spa presents a wellness offering defined by nature in every way. Mineral-rich waters feed traditional onsen, while a range of treatments tap into Japan's plentiful natural apothecary. Both the elegant spa reception area and the relaxation lounge claim mesmerising forest views, as do three spacious treatment rooms. The forest itself is an extension of the Spa, serving as a serene setting for guided yoga, meditation and shinrin-yoku (forest bathing) experiences.
