

Amanyangyun, China

50

A peaceful resort on the outskirts of Shanghai, Amanyangyun rests amid a forest of camphor trees. Offering a glimpse of China's past, 13 re-mastered Ming and Qing Dynasty villas have been moved brick-by-brick from Fuzhou, and are complemented by an Aman Spa, three restaurants, two bars, and a cultural centre known as Nan Shufang.

80

A peaceful resort on the outskirts of downtown Shanghai, Amanyangyun is the culmination of an ambitious feat of architectural and ecological conservation. Amid a flourishing forest of camphor trees near a tranquil lake, 13 re-mastered Ming and Qing Dynasty villas have been carefully moved brick-by-brick from Fuzhou to offer a glimpse of China's past in a magnificent natural setting. Amanyangyun also offers 24 contemporary suites, a comprehensive Aman Spa, three restaurants, two bars, and a unique cultural centre known as Nan Shufang.

100

A peaceful resort on the outskirts of downtown Shanghai, Amanyangyun is the culmination of an ambitious feat of architectural and ecological conservation. Amid a flourishing forest of camphor trees near a tranquil lake, 13 re-mastered Ming and Qing Dynasty villas have been carefully moved brick-by-brick from Fuzhou to become an integral part of Aman's fourth destination in China. These are complemented by 24 contemporary suites designed by Kerry Hill Architects. Offering a glimpse of China's past in a magnificent natural setting, Amanyangyun is a destination unto itself with a comprehensive Aman Spa, three restaurants, two bars, and a unique cultural centre known as Nan Shufang.

300

A peaceful resort on the outskirts of Shanghai, Amanyangyun is the culmination of an ambitious feat of architectural and ecological conservation. Amid a forest of camphor trees near a tranquil lake, 13 re-mastered Ming and Qing Dynasty villas have been carefully moved from Fuzhou to become an integral part of Aman's fourth destination in China. Offering a glimpse of China's past in a magnificent natural setting, Amanyangyun offers a comprehensive Aman Spa, three restaurants, two bars, and a unique cultural centre known as Nan Shufang.

Meticulously designed by Kerry Hill Architects, Amanyangyun's 13 restored Antique Villas and 24 contemporary Ming Courtyard Suites are set on spacious grounds within the camphor forest. Every Antique Villa has its own garden and private swimming pool, and has been sensitively restored to include up to five bedrooms. The contemporary suites combine expansive living areas with twin courtyards.

Amanyangyun's 2,840m<sup>2</sup> Aman Spa is one of the most comprehensive wellness centres in Shanghai, offering ten treatment rooms, six relaxation lounges, extensive hydrotherapy facilities and a hair and beauty salon. Heated indoor and outdoor swimming pools offer terraces with forest views, while an expansive movement facility incorporates a Fitness Centre, a Pilates Studio and a spacious Yoga Studio.

An exceptional setting for special events, Amanyangyun has brought together expert chefs from around the globe to offer a culinary safari for gastronomes across its five exciting dining venues. These include Lazhu (Chinese), Arva (Italian), Yin Lu (Cantonese hotpot), The Bar and The Cigar Lounge. Other event spaces include the Ballroom, a Boardroom and Nan Shufang.

Named after the royal reading pavilion in the Forbidden City, Nan Shufang is the cultural heart of Amanyangyun. A space in which to appreciate traditional crafts such as calligraphy, music and seal carving, or to watch a Kunqu Opera performance, it also offers nine gracious private rooms for traditional tea and incense ceremonies.

500

A peaceful resort on the outskirts of Shanghai, Amanyangyun is the culmination of an ambitious feat of architectural and ecological conservation. Amid a forest of camphor trees near a tranquil lake, 13 re-mastered Ming and Qing Dynasty villas have been carefully moved from Fuzhou to become an integral part of Aman's fourth destination in China. Offering a glimpse of China's past in a magnificent natural setting, Amanyangyun offers a comprehensive Aman Spa, three restaurants, two bars, and a unique cultural centre known as Nan Shufang.

Amanyangyun's story began 700 kilometres away in Jiangxi Province, known for its camphor forests and historic villages. When plans for a much-needed reservoir were approved, the fate of these remnants of Old China appeared to be sealed. But Fuzhou native and philanthropist, Ma Dadong, conceived a bold plan to relocate as many Ming and Qing Dynasty villas as possible, and ultimately 10,000 camphor trees. Aman joined the restoration project in 2009, and after years of dedication, Amanyangyun opened in January 2018.

Meticulously designed by Kerry Hill Architects, Amanyangyun's 13 restored Antique Villas and 24 contemporary Ming Courtyard Suites are set on spacious grounds within the camphor forest. Every Antique Villa has its own garden and private swimming pool, and has been sensitively restored to include up to five bedrooms. Light-filled with woodland views, the contemporary suites combine expansive living areas with twin courtyards and an outdoor bathtub.

Amanyangyun's 2,840m<sup>2</sup> Aman Spa is one of the largest and most comprehensive wellness centres in Shanghai. Its ethos draws inspiration from the resort's name, 'Yang Yun', part of a 300-year-old inscription within Beijing's Forbidden City meaning 'nourishing cloud'. While celebrating the past, the spa also offers the finest modern diagnostic and treatment tools, as well as ten spa treatment rooms, six relaxation lounges, extensive hydrotherapy facilities, and a hair and beauty salon. Heated indoor and outdoor swimming pools offer terraces with forest views, while an expansive movement facility incorporates a Fitness Centre, a Pilates Studio and a spacious Yoga Studio

An exceptional setting for special events, Amanyangyun has brought together expert chefs from around the globe to offer a culinary safari for gastronomes across its five exciting dining venues. These include Lazhu (Chinese), Arva (Italian), Yin Lu (Cantonese hotpot), The Bar and The Cigar Lounge. A fine selection of teas, wine, sake, premium spirits and signature cocktails complement the seasonal dishes curated with the freshest of locally sourced produce. Other event spaces include the Ballroom, a Boardroom and Nan Shufang.

Named after the royal reading pavilion in the Forbidden City, Nan Shufang is the cultural heart of Amanyangyun. A haven for the arts of Ancient China, it is a cultural centre housed within the most architecturally impressive antique buildings to have made the journey from Fuzhou. A space in which to appreciate traditional crafts such as calligraphy, music and seal carving, or to watch a Kunqu Opera performance, it also offers nine gracious private rooms for traditional tea and incense ceremonies.