TOKYO, JAPAN

A trip to the ultra-modern city of Tokyo is unforgettable – from Aman Tokyo, one can gaze upon the multi-coloured glow of the city leading straight to the horizon, an awe-inspiring sight. Tokyo has been the nation’s capital since the start of the Meiji Restoration in 1868 when, among other major changes to the nation’s political and social structure, Japan came out of its self-imposed isolation. Prior to 1868, Tokyo was a small castle town known as Edo, which had become Japan’s political centre in 1603, when Tokugawa Ieyasu established his feudal government there. Edo was renamed Tokyo, ‘eastern capital’, in 1868.

AMAN TOKYO

An urban sanctuary atop the shimmering Otemachi Tower, Aman Tokyo is a monument to the modern-day Japanese capital, a place where dynamism is tempered with serenity. History, commerce and culture fuse truly cosmopolitan yet intrinsically Japanese aesthetics, offering fascinating juxtapositions at every turn. Gleaming skyscrapers reach for the heavens beside nineteenth-century palaces; humming intersections exist alongside quaint lanes lined with convivial yakitori-ya, ramen shops and shochu bars; state-of-the-art shopping centres overlook beautiful parks, pink with cherry-blossom in spring.

ROOMS & SUITES

Aman Tokyo's rooms and suites are lofty urban havens drawing design inspiration from traditional Japanese residences. Blending wood, washi paper and stone with modern technology and luxurious fabrics, they offer magnificent views including the Imperial Palace Gardens, and Mt Fuji on the horizon on clearer days.

DINING & WELLBEING

Aman Tokyo offers a selection of sublime dining experiences. Arva brings Italian seasonal ingredients and cooking techniques, while maintaining a distinctly Japanese emphasis on clean, refined flavours. Early every morning the Master Chef travels to the fish market, to select the freshest, seasonal fish and seafood for Edomae style sushi at Musashi. The vast garden and bar lounge, designed to resemble the inside of a traditional shoji paper lantern is the perfect spot for all-day dining in Tokyo. During the day, sample Afternoon Tea – an Aman Tokyo speciality – high above the Imperial Palace Gardens. The Café by Aman features French delicacies with a menu that changes every two months.

Aman Spa Tokyo is a vast, light-filled space set high above the Tokyo skyline. A complete range of treatments, therapies, and facilities draws on the Japanese principles of nature and balance. Multiple treatment rooms are available, and the signature Spa Journeys focus on Japanese natural ingredients and philosophies. The Spa features large Japanese-style hot baths and steam rooms, a light-filled 30-metre pool with panoramic city views, a world-class fitness centre with the latest cardiovascular and weight-training machinery, and dedicated yoga and Pilates studios.

DAY 2

Sunday, 3 October 2021

Aman Tokyo, Deluxe Room (Tokyo, Japan)

Included Meals: B L

TODAY'S SCHEDULED SHARED EXPERIENCES:

Choose one of the following:

Sushi Experience and Lunch: Learn how to prepare sushi's basic rice with rice vinegar, slice various fish and vegetable ingredients, and roll, cut and display the pieces, before enjoying your own (as well as your professional instructor's) creations for lunch.

Sword Fighting Lesson: Japan's ancient samurai swords were once employed during battle, and their use is today considered an artform. During your sword lesson you will practise movements evolved from the techniques used by samurai in battle.

Lunch: Lunch is included with the sushi experience. If you choose not to do the sushi experience, you can eat at a casual local restaurant and pay on the spot.

SUGGESTED EXPERIENCES:

The rest of the day is yours to explore Tokyo with your private car, driver and guide. Discuss with your guide what you would like to see.

Jogai Market: Jogai is the outer market area surrounding the famous Tsukiji Market. A variety of fresh produce, seafood, and kitchenware are sold daily. You can also visit an Aritsugu store front and browse the world renowned knives. Founded in 1560, Aritsugu originally supplied swords to the Imperial House of Japan, before becoming a knife manufacturer in the 18th century. This particular store, Tsukiji Arisugū, opened in 1918 after gaining independence from the original store in Kyoto.

Ginza: Tokyo's premier shopping district is brimming with department stores, boutiques, restaurants and coffeehouses. The department stores' basement-level food courts are a must-visit for local delicacies, freshly packed bento boxes, exquisite teas and more.

Akihabara: Japan's fascination with technology, fashion, Manga and youth culture come together on the 'Akihabara scene'. Stroll through the flashing pachinko or video game parlours, a street dedicated to musical instruments, and electronics stores showcasing the latest gadgets.

Maid Café: Drop in to one of Akihabara's many iconic maid cafés and experience this unique cultural phenomenon.

Asakusa: Visit the historic Asakusa district. One of the area's most popular sites is the Senso-ji Temple, Tokyo's largest Buddhist temple. Before heading to the temple, visit Nakamise Shopping Street. This busy covered shopping arcade leads from the Kaminarimon gate to the temple, selling all sorts of Buddhist paraphernalia. While walking around, sample local snacks such as senbei rice crackers, grilled on the spot, flavored with soy and usually wrapped in seaweed.

Fukagawa Fudo Fire Ceremony: Visit Fukagawa Fudo, an active temple in Tokyo where fire rituals called goma take place daily at 09:00, 11:00, 13:00, 15:00 and 17:00. Sutras are read, drums are pounded, and various amulets and objects are passed over the flames in blessing. Walk down the prayer corridor and marvel at the 9,500 miniature crystal Buddha statues. Upstairs is a gallery depicting all 88 temples of the 850-mile pilgrimage route on the island of Shikoku. It is said that offering a prayer at each alcove has the same effect as visiting each temple.

Kitchen Town: Kappabashi Dougu Street, also known as Kitchen Town, is a famous restaurant and kitchen supplies shopping district. Browse the bargains on cups, bowls, trays, pottery, lacquerware, chopsticks, sashimi knives and copious other items. Don't miss Maiduru, maker of the plastic food found in restaurant display cases. Practically an art, these plastic models are made as real and accurate as possible and look delicious enough to eat.

Return to Aman Tokyo by 17:00.

Dinner: Enjoy dinner on your own at Aman or a local restaurant. Please ask the concierge about reservations and transportation. Let us know in advance if you would like to pre-book.

DAY 3

Monday, 4 October 2021

Aman Tokyo, Deluxe Room (Tokyo, Japan)

Included Meals: B

TODAY'S SCHEDULED SHARED EXPERIENCES:

Tea Ceremony: Experience a traditional Japanese tea ceremony, chanoyu. The Japanese tea ceremony originated more than 1,000 years ago when Japan adopted the Chinese practice of drinking powdered green tea, and following Zen Buddhist beliefs. A traditional Japanese tea ceremony is a spiritual experience that embodies harmony, respect, purity and tranquility. The ceremony is a choreographed ritual of preparing and serving Japanese matcha green tea; traditional sweets are also served to balance the tea's bitter taste. The aesthetics of the ceremony are paramount: one's attention must focus on movement and gesture; even the placement of the tea utensils must follow a certain method. In this lesson you will learn the subtle yet significant ceremony etiquette shaped by Zen Buddhism.

Sumo Lesson with Retired Wrestlers: Meet with retired sumo wrestlers to learn more about the ancient artform. Sumo is a serious sport that combines weight, speed, intellect, technique and guile, and many ritual elements such as purifying the ring with salt. Matches can last from a few seconds to a couple of minutes, until one wrestler forces the other either out of the ring or to touch the ground with anything other than the soles of his feet. Contrary to appearances, being gigantic and overweight is not de rigueur for becoming a successful sumo wrestler; it is even common to see a smaller wrestler defeat a larger opponent. In this private informational session, you will be free to ask questions and, if you wish, you can also don a 'sumo suit' and try your hand at the sport.

Lunch: Enjoy lunch at a local casual restaurant of your choosing (not included).

SUGGESTED EXPERIENCES:

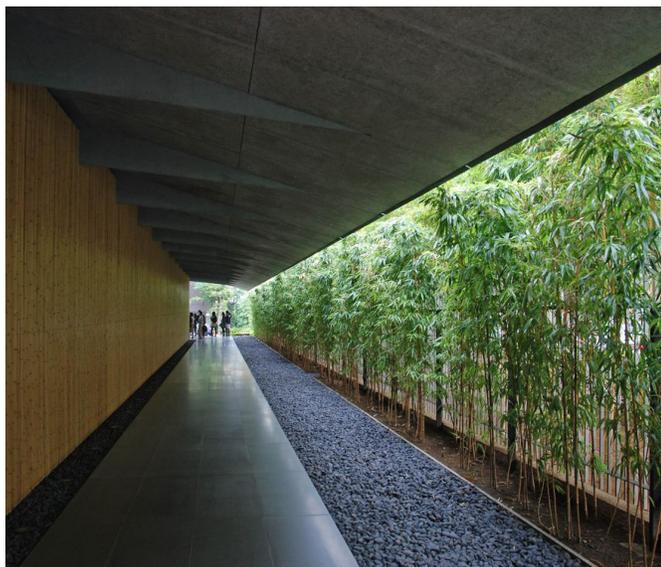

Explore Tokyo with your private car, driver and guide.

Imperial Palace East Gardens: The palace was once the world's largest, though now only the inner circle remains. Seeing the palace itself requires joining a tour that lasts over an hour; instead, we recommend heading into the beautiful East Gardens, which are open to the public. During cherry-blossom season, this is a popular spot for locals and visitors alike to take in the sakura (cherry blossom), as the grounds of the Imperial Palace and nearby Kitanomaru Park are covered in a pink-white floral blanket during the peak of the blossom season.

Omotesando Street: One of central Tokyo's smartest boulevards, with broad pavements, tall trees and hip boutiques and cafés lending it a European feel. Omotesando Street is also a great place to begin a tour, by car or on foot, of the Aoyama neighbourhood. Here you'll find high-end global fashion, but it's the cutting-edge architecture designed by world-renowned names, including Herzog and de Meuron, Tadao Ando, and Jun Aoki, that is the real draw.

Aoyama Flower Market Tea House: Set inside the Aoyama Flower Market, this whimsical garden-room tea house serves delicate herbal and petal-infused teas which guests savour as they chat under vined canopies among the freshest, delightfully fragrant blossoms. Pop in for a light snack or a midday break from the hectic Tokyo scramble.

Nezu Museum: Tucked away from the bustling commercial boulevard of Omotesando in the fashionable Aoyama neighbourhood, this museum was established in 1941 by Japanese industrialist Nezu Kaichiro to preserve his personal collection for posterity. Today the museum is housed in a striking modern building designed by architect Kengo Kuma. Kaichiro's collection of Japanese and other Asian pre-modern arts forms the core of the museum's collection, while donations from private collectors have helped the overall collection grow to more than 7,000 objects, including calligraphy, painting, sculpture and ceramics. A number of pieces are now designated as National Treasures.

Harajuku: Although Sundays are famously the day for Tokyo's youth to flaunt their sartorial style, you can still get a sense of the unique local scene here along Takeshita Street; every afternoon, local teenagers swap their staid school uniforms for something a little more on-trend.

Meiji Shrine: The shrine's giant torii gates, surrounded by the lush environs of Yoyogi Park, are another of Tokyo's iconic sights. Originally built in 1920, the shrine was destroyed in World War II and rebuilt in 1958. It is dedicated to Emperor Meiji and his wife, Empress Shoken, who ruled from 1868 to 1912, presiding over Japan's transition from centuries of shogun rule to imperial power. Shinto is Japan's indigenous faith, with a uniquely beautiful reverence for nature. The shrine's natural setting, amid the expanse of Yoyogi Park, is a rare sight.

Tokyo Skytree: Head towards the Tokyo Skytree, currently the tallest broadcast tower in the world. The tower stands at a height of 634 metres, and houses an observation tower at the top, from which visitors get a stunning panoramic view of the city.

Shibuya Crossing: Visit Shibuya crossing, one of the world's most heavily used pedestrian intersections. When the light turns red all vehicular traffic comes to a halt and the crossing is momentarily filled with a frenzy of criss-crossing pedestrians. Neon lights and enormous video screens create a lively atmosphere.

Hachiko Statue: From Shibuya Crossing visit the nearby Hachiko statue, perhaps Tokyo's most famous meeting spot and a popular tourist destination. Hachiko is a small akita dog remembered for his remarkable loyalty. In the early 1920s a professor who lived near Shibuya station would come home to find Hachiko waiting for him at the station every day. The professor died in 1925 but the dog would continue to come to the station to wait for his owner until his own death ten years later.

Cat or Bunny Café: Enjoy this curious experience where you can sip a drink and pet animals.

Bonsai Museum: Visit the Bonsai Museum and learn about the history and cultural significance of various bonsai and bonsai-related traditional arts from multiple perspectives, including art history, craft history and the history of horticulture.

21-21 Design Sight Museum: Visit this striking collaboration between two of Japan's leading contemporary figures in the arts: fashion designer Issey Miyake and architect Tadao Ando.

Other special experiences related to art, architecture, birding or almost any other interest are available on request and possibly at an additional cost.

Return to Aman Tokyo by 17:00.

Dinner: Enjoy dinner on your own at Aman or a local restaurant. Please ask the concierge about reservations and transportation. Let us know in advance if you would like to pre-book.

DAY 4

Tuesday, 5 October 2021

Amansara, Courtyard Suite (Siem Reap, Cambodia)

Included Meals: B L D

Breakfast: Enjoy breakfast at the Restaurant before checking out.

07:30: Private transfer to Haneda airport (30 minutes).

09:00-14:30: Private jet from Tokyo, Japan to Siem Reap, Cambodia (7 hours 30 minutes, -2 hours time difference).

Lunch will be served on board the jet during this flight.

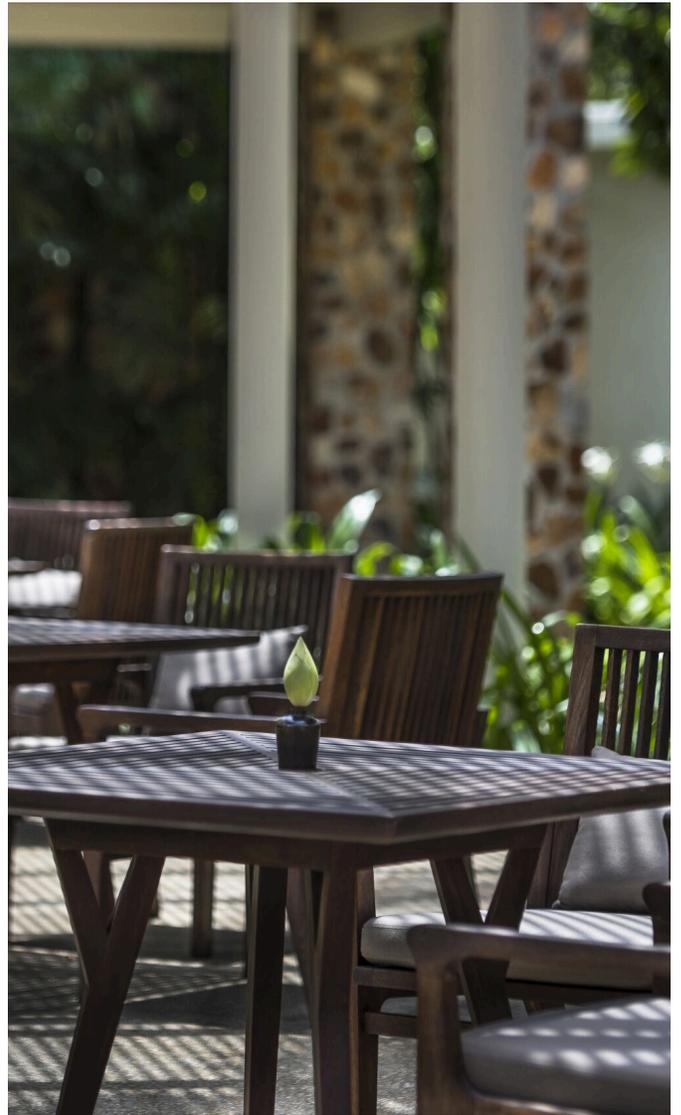

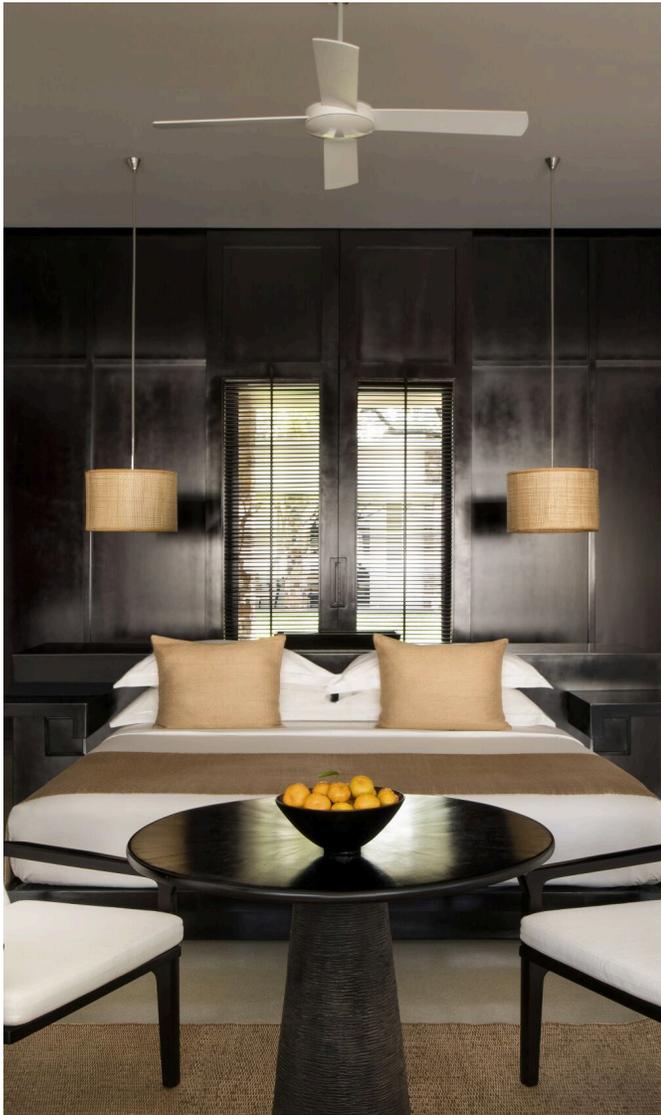

SIEM REAP, CAMBODIA

The Kingdom of Cambodia has rightfully become a traveller's mecca due to the magnificent cultural heritage of Siem Reap. In addition to Angkor Wat, one of the great man-made wonders of the world, and other remarkable temples throughout the Angkor area, the heart of the country also offers natural marvels like Boeung Tonlé Sap, Cambodia's vast freshwater lake, which sustains a unique culture of floating villages. Angkor was the capital of the powerful Khmer Empire which controlled most of Indochina (the former French colonies of Laos, Vietnam and Cambodia) from the eleventh to the fourteenth centuries. In addition to this region, there is the French colonial heritage of the capital, Phnom Penh, the authentic rural life of Battambang and excellent beach destinations, like Kep, along the southern coast. The scars of war under Pol Pot and the Khmer Rouge have healed a lot in the past 30 years, and today Cambodia is a lovely Buddhist constitutional monarchy of extremely gracious people, delicious cuisine and rich cultural history.

AMANSARA

Once a residence for guests of the king, Amansara is a masterpiece of 1960s New Khmer architecture - an unabashedly modern style. A careful and sensitive restoration brought the building back to its former glory, retaining the original single-level layout, curvilinear pool and monochrome minimalism. Gardens and a canopy of mature trees create an introspective atmosphere, continued in the suites, which open onto private courtyards and ponds. Custom itineraries lead guests intuitively towards less-explored destinations - cycling through crowd-free ruins, meditating amid ancient forest or cruising to the floating villages of Tonlé Sap lake.

SUITES

Finished in pale terrazzo and timber, Amansara's suites offer a combined bedroom and living area which steps down into a light-filled bathroom with an island bathtub. Floor-to-ceiling glass doors open to a private garden courtyard with sun loungers, a reflection pond and, in 12 suites, a private plunge pool. Sandstone reliefs reference the famed ruins of Angkor temples just minutes away.

DINING

Amansara's sleek circular restaurant offers Cambodian-centred cuisine under soaring ceilings, or outdoors at pergola-shaded tables by the pool. The daily changing menus focus on simple flavours, using organic produce direct from the market and local suppliers. For a unique experience, private dining is available at the resort's rustic Khmer house at Angkor, where meals are prepared over charcoal to the sounds and sights of village life.

DAY 4

Tuesday, 5 October 2021

Amansara, Courtyard Suite (Siem Reap, Cambodia)

Included Meals: B L D

Lunch will be served on board the jet during this flight.

14:30: Arrive in Siem Reap, Cambodia (7 hours 30 minutes, -2 hours time difference).

TODAY'S SUGGESTED EXPERIENCES:

Upon arrival explore Ta Prohm Temple with your private car, driver and guide.

Ta Prohm Temple: The ruins at Ta Prohm date from 1186 and have been allowed to be reclaimed by the jungle. This atmospheric temple complex is a must-see on any visit to Siem Reap and offers amazing photo opportunities, as well as the chance to view the latest archeological discoveries made here, such as 2011's two headless stone statues, which date from the twelfth century and are the biggest excavated finds since the 1930s. Explore the ruins with an archaeologist who has led the preservation effort at Ta Prohm for more than a decade, and who can provide fascinating insight into the temple's history.

Private transfer to Amansara (30 minutes).

THIS EVENING'S SCHEDULED ACTIVITY:

Fashion Show and Cocktails - 18:00: Arrive at haute couture designer Eric Raisina's atelier for cocktails and a special private fashion show.

Dinner: Have dinner at the hotel (it is included at Amansara). If you wish to dine outside of the hotel, note that you will have to pay directly.

DAY 5

Wednesday, 6 October 2021

Amansara, Courtyard Suite (Siem Reap, Cambodia)

Included Meals: B L D

Morning pick-up time: 05:00

Morning return time: 07:00

Sunrise at Angkor Wat: With your private guide, get close up to Angkor Wat where your first impressions of the monuments' grandeur at daybreak will be relatively private. Angkor Wat has become one of the world's most famous attractions, on a par with the Great Wall of China and the Taj Mahal. Built in the twelfth century as the capital of King Suryavarman II's kingdom, it is the largest and best-preserved of the Angkor temples, and the only one to have remained a significant religious centre (first Hindu, then Buddhist).

Breakfast: Return to Amansara for breakfast and relaxation before stepping out for further touring.

Second pick-up time: 09:00

Second return time: 17:00

TODAY'S SUGGESTED EXPERIENCES:

You will have a private car, driver and guide.

Helicopter over Angkor Wat: Proceed to the airport for your private helicopter aerial tour of Siem Reap. This bird's-eye view of the Angkor area is a terrific complement to your exploring on the ground. Your 14-minute helicopter flight path provides a thrilling experience of the Angkor region, especially Angkor Wat, western and eastern Barays, Prasat Kravan, Sras Srong, Pre Rup, and the eastern Mebon temple. The helicopter is a French-manufactured turbine engine AS350 Squirrel with seating for five passengers plus pilot. All maintenance procedures comply with the highest international civil aviation standards (and in particular conform to New Zealand Civil Aviation Authority regulations) and all passengers are covered by a comprehensive insurance package. Pilots have expert knowledge of Cambodian flying conditions and love to share the experience of Angkor-from-above with visitors.

Lunch: Return for lunch at Amansara.

Banteay Srei: Banteay Srei is a small gem of a temple that Remote Lands highly recommends. Built in the 10th century and nicknamed the “Citadel of Women,” Banteay Srei is a jewel box of red sandstone, famed for its intimate size and the intricacy of its carvings.

Rural Water Well Development: Fund the building of a water well for a Cambodian family through the Cambodian Child’s Dream Organization (CCDO). Each water well and filter provides a family and its immediate neighbors with easily accessible hand pumped clean water. On average about 11 people use each water well, and without these wells villagers ultimately travel long distances to retrieve water from pools and streams. After construction of the well is completed you will have the opportunity to meet the family and have your photo taken together in front of the newly constructed well.

Return to Amansara.

THIS EVENING’S SCHEDULED ACTIVITY:

Private Temple Dinner - 19:00: Enjoy a private dinner of gourmet Khmer cuisine on the grounds of Banteay Samré. Drinks will precede your multi-course meal, and the evening will include a performance of traditional Cambodian dance.

DAY 6

Thursday, 7 October 2021

Amanoi, Mountain Pool Villa (Vinh Hy Bay, Vietnam)

11:30-13:10: Private jet from Siem Reap, Cambodia to Cam Ranh, Vietnam (1 hour 40 minutes).

Lunch will be served on board the jet during this flight.

NINH THUAN, VIETNAM

Well known for its natural beauty, crystal blue coastlines and white pearly sand, the area of Ninh Thuan Province has one of Vietnam's most beautiful shorelines and notably includes Nui Chua National Park. Sandy beaches like Ninh Chu and Vinh Hy line the coast. Coral reefs fringe Nui Chua National Park in the northeast.

Amanoi ('place of peace') is a contemporary beachside resort with 9 freestanding guest Pavilions, 18 Villas with private pools, two Wellness Villas and six Residences. Overlooking Vinh Hy Bay on Vietnam's dramatic central coast, the property is embraced by Nui Chua National Park and features a lakeside Aman Spa. The property enjoys magnificent views from its clifftop infinity pool and Central Pavilion; down on the private sandy shoreline, the Beach Club includes a dining area and a second swimming pool.

PAVILIONS & VILLAS

From their curving roofs peeping above the treeline to their latticed windows and discreet natural materials, Amanoï's Pavilions and Villas are at one with their magnificent surroundings. They draw on the grace and artful simplicity of Vietnamese design, offering combined bedroom and living areas, and large bathrooms that open onto spacious decks. The Villas enjoy private pools and expansive views.

DINING, WELLBEING & FACILITIES

Inside the Restaurant soaring columns and sloping rooflines frame the surroundings, while at the Beach Club meals are accompanied by pristine sand and the gentle sounds of the surf. Fresh fish from the azure waters of Vinh Hy Bay takes prominence on the menu. Delivered daily directly from the fishing boats, the fish are cooked simply and complemented by other locally sourced ingredients as well as panoramic views over the bay and rolling hills. Amanoï's Spa Houses provide access to modern equipment as well as the full range of traditional East Asian spa treatments.

THIMPHU, BHUTAN

Set in a steep valley at an altitude of 2,350 metres (7,709 feet), Thimphu is surrounded by richly forested mountains dotted with ancient monasteries and temples. The town, Bhutan's capital since 1961, is built up from the Thimphu Chhu (river) and is centred around the Clock Tower and its surrounding lanes of shops and vegetable and meat markets. Although Thimphu is home to some 104,000 people and is an architectural hybrid of past and present with monasteries, palaces and dzongs side by side with more modern additions, the town is still entirely free of traffic lights. Elsewhere in the valley, you can visit Pangri Zampa, two sixteenth-century buildings that now house a monastic astrologer training school, and, at the head of the valley, walk across one of the country's oldest cantilever bridges, which leads to Cheri Goemba, where the Kingdom's first monk community was based.

AMANKORA

Combining the Sanskrit word for 'peace' with kora or 'circular pilgrimage' in Dzongkha, the Bhutanese language, Amankora is a series of lodges across the central and western valleys of Bhutan. The sole surviving Himalayan Buddhist Kingdom, Bhutan is located between the Tibetan Plateau and India, making it one of the most remote and pristine environments on earth. Descending from 7,000m-high peaks in the north to the low-lying plains of the south, Bhutan's rivers have forged deep valleys separated by high mountain passes. Historically isolated, each valley's scenic beauty and topography affords visitors an opportunity for unique journeys of discovery.

Situated in a blue pine forest in the upper reaches of the Motithang area of the Thimphu Valley, the 16-suite Amankora Thimphu is close to the capital's sights and shopping, while remaining a quiet retreat away from the hustle and bustle of the Kingdom's main commercial centre. The resort's dzong-inspired architecture incorporates whitewashed stone buildings accessed through an enclosed arrival courtyard. Stairs lead from this entryway to a combined Living and Dining Room with soaring ceilings and wood-panelled walls. An outdoor dining deck provides views of the nearby stream and surrounding forest. The Spa features three treatment rooms (two single and one double), a steam room and changing areas.

ROOMS, SUITES & VILLAS

Amankora Thimphu suites combine a bedroom and lounge, and feature a kingsize bed, a reading chair and a window banquette. Each suite's interior features wood panelling and chocolate brown walls, and the spacious bathroom opens from the bedroom and provides twin vanities, separate shower and toilet, hanging space, and a terrazzo-clad bath.

DINING

The Dining Room

Dine on traditional Bhutanese cuisine prepared with fresh, locally sourced ingredients in a warm ambience of soaring ceilings and wood-paneled walls. Amankora Thimphu's Dining Room, looking out on the nearby stream and forest, serves breakfast, lunch and dinner, specialising in Indian, Western and Bhutanese dishes. The stay at Amankora includes full board of breakfast, lunch and dinner each day.

Cocktails with Special Guests - 18:00: Enjoy welcome cocktails and meet Lhatu Wangchuk, the former UN Ambassador from Bhutan. Engage in a discussion about the Gross National Happiness (GNH), the Bhutanese philosophy which serves as a beacon in the search for greater wellbeing and advancement. Crafted by the fourth king of Bhutan, the concept of GNH offers an index system within which material and spiritual needs are measured as a way of ranking citizens' contentment.

Dinner - 19:00: After cocktails, have dinner in Amankora's Dining Room at your leisure.

DAY 11

Tuesday, 12 October 2021

Included Meals: B L D

Your stay at Amankora is all-inclusive; enjoy your meals on your own.

TODAY'S SUGGESTED EXPERIENCES:

Explore Thimphu with your private car, driver and guide.

Astrology School - Pangri Zampa Lakhang: This former temple is now used as an astrology centre by the state clergy, and is home to around 100 monks studying astrology.

National Library of Thimphu: Home to ancient Dzongkha and Tibetan texts, this stunning example of Bhutanese architecture was established in 1967. The library holds more than 10,000 volumes of scriptures in classical language and, on the top floor, rare and sacred classical texts are displayed.

National Textile Museum: Learn about the art of weaving, one of the Kingdom's most important arts. The exhibition displays the major weaving techniques, and styles of local dress and textile made by the Bhutanese people.

Memorial Chorten: Drive to the Memorial Chorten, dedicated to the third king, Jigme Dorji Wangchuck. The basic structure of the chorten consists of a square foundation symbolising the earth, a dome symbolising water and 13 tapering steps symbolising the element of fire. The shrine is surmounted by a golden sphere that resembles a shimmering crown.

Motithang Takin Preserve: The takin is the national animal of Bhutan. There is a folk legend that when the Buddhist saint known popularly as the Divine Madman visited Bhutan in the fifteenth century, he was asked by the people to perform a miracle to demonstrate his credibility. He first demanded to be fed and he quickly devoured a large cow and a goat. The saint then placed the remains of the goat inside the cow's carcass and ordered this new creature to rise and run into the fields, thus creating the takin.

Handmade Paper Factory: Visit Thimphu's paper factory, where lovely sheets of traditional Bhutanese paper are made, which sometimes incorporate flowers or plants into their fibre. The art of handmade paper in Bhutan dates back to the eighth century, although usage was limited mainly to religious purposes. Today it is considered an important element in the preservation of Bhutan's cultural heritage. The tiny factory allows guests to view the papermaking process and purchase samples and gift items from their shop.

Trashi Chhoe Dzong: Also known as Thimphu Dzong, this monastery and fortress serves as the seat of the government and the centre of all religious affairs of the Kingdom.

Hiking: Bhutan is famous for its misty mountainous landscapes and offers a range of hiking options for all ages and fitness levels. Speak to your guide about options.

Cocktails with Special Guests - 18:00: Enjoy cocktails and meet Dasho Tashi Wangyal, an Eminent Member of the Bhutanese National Council - one of the two houses of Parliament. Tashi sits on the Council's Economic Affairs Committee and Foreign Relations Committee, and is the right-hand man and childhood friend of the King. He completed his higher education in Canada and at Cambridge University.

TODAY'S SUGGESTED EXPERIENCES:

Explore Paro with your private car, driver and guide.

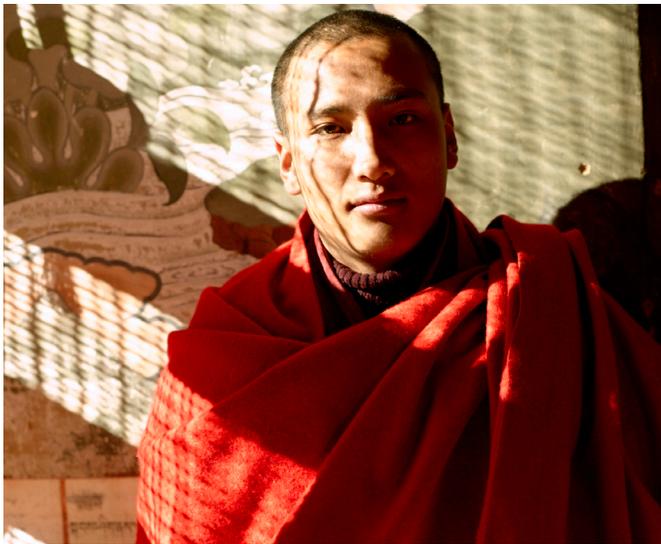

Private transfer to Paro (approximately 1 hour).

Tiger's Nest: Rise early for a half-day hike to Tiger's Nest. We recommend you leave no later than 08:30 for this activity. Tiger's Nest, or Taktshang Goempa, is one of Bhutan's most revered monuments. It hangs off the face of a cliff 900 metres (2,952 feet) above the valley floor - and has an altitude of 3,120 metres. The legend states that Guru Rinpoche flew into Bhutan on a mythical tigress and meditated in a cave before bringing Buddhism to Bhutan. An approximately 2-hour trek of moderate difficulty straight uphill will bring you to an observation pavilion at the halfway point to the monastery, where you may pause for tea and contemplation. Many people turn back here, but we recommend that you brave the final approach to Taktsang, which takes about 45 minutes longer.

After the hike, return to Thimphu (approximately 1 hour).

Spa: If you wish, book a treatment at the Aman Spa at your leisure, on your own account.

Farewell Cocktails and Dinner - 18:00: Come together and enjoy cocktails, then a special menu of seasonal Bhutanese cuisine, on your last night in Bhutan.

TURKEY

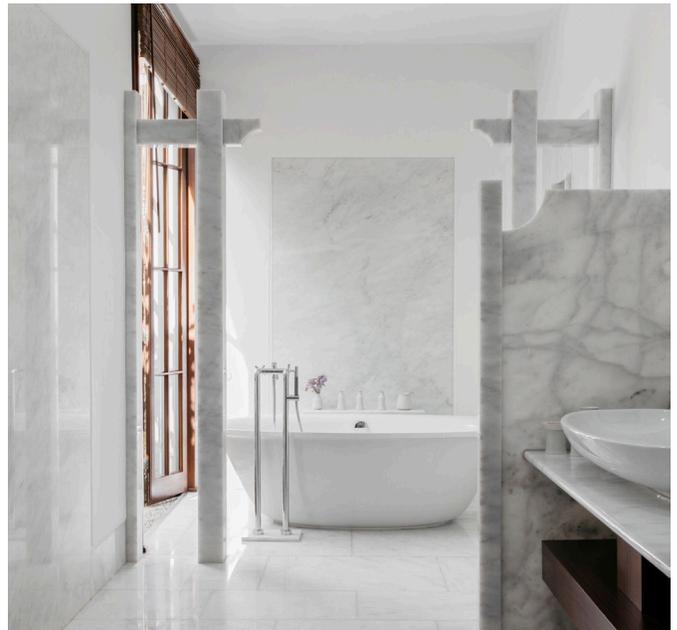

Turkey is a land of vast open spaces and massive mountain ranges, fertile valleys and rugged coastline, fast-growing cities and sleepy coastal villages, seaside resorts and remote beaches. The country overflows with historical sites and archaeological wonders and its Mediterranean coastline boasts well-preserved Roman cities and other-worldly landscapes. Cuisine is the heart of Turkish culture. For the sociable and family-orientated Turks, gathering together and eating well is a time-honoured ritual. Enjoy olive oil-lathered Aegean vegetables, spicy Anatolian kebabs and baklava for dessert!

AMANRUYA

The scalloped coastline of the Bodrum Peninsula comprises sheltered coves and quaint villages, and it's here that millennia of Greek and Roman history are evoked in Unesco-protected ruins. Meandering pebble pathways lead to the property's central building, where spa suites and a three-storey library overlook the infinity pool, a vision of Antalya marble. Famous for the ruins of Ephesus and the medieval castle at Bodrum, the area is as alluring to historians as it is to holiday seekers.

Muğla is a rarity for a Turkish provincial capital – compact and relaxed, with plane-tree-lined boulevards and narrow streets that lead to a historic quarter. The whitewashed Ottoman houses are particularly well preserved and there is an array of chilled çay bahçesi (tea gardens) filled with friendly students from the nearby university.

SUITES

Combining Mediterranean and Turkish architectural details, Amanruya's stone Pavilions all open onto picturesque gardens with private swimming pools and open views

DINING

The eclectic cuisine of the Mediterranean is the focus at Amanruya's kitchen, whether you are dining in the intimate Dining Pavilion, under the vaulted ceilings of the Wine Cellar, or in any of the pavilions and lounges where meals can be served. Explore Bodrum with your private car, driver and guide.

Bodrum Castle: Built in the early fifteenth century, Bodrum castle remains a medieval relic, fortified with green volcanic stones and marble columns. It is now home to the Museum of Underwater Archaeology. A visit to the castle should also take in the marina and adjacent narrow lanes that are the hub of contemporary city life.

Ephesus: Once the second-largest city in the world, Ephesus is one of the best-preserved ancient sites on the globe. After 150 years of excavation, just a fraction of the city has been unearthed, including several temples, library, theatre, colonnaded street and gate. It lies near the ancient town of Priene, as well as the 15,000-seat amphitheatre at Miletus.

Pottery Making: Pottery making has been a Turkish tradition and artform since the early days of the Ottoman Empire. Using distinctive red clay, artisans in the village of Mumcular offer an opportunity to watch the creation process and invite you to try it for yourself.

Lunch: Have lunch at a casual local restaurant of your choosing.

Local Villages: Take time today to visit local villages. Etrim is known for producing wonderfully intricate hand-knotted carpets. Witness the spanning and dyeing of the thread on your visit, as well as the weaving process itself - a craft that has been passed down the generations in the village. You may also visit the fishing village of Gümüşlük for daytime dives that explore the sunken ancient city of Myndos and hikes at dusk that capture the sunset between the gentle sloping coves.

The richness of its cultural history can be seen in the mosaic floors of Roman villas, flamboyantly painted Orthodox monasteries, ornate Catholic churches, elegant minarets of mosques and the sturdy fortresses built by the numerous powers that have fought over these lands. While the whole country is not even 300 kilometres from tip to toe, Montenegro beckons travellers worldwide to hike, horseback ride, mountain bike, kayak and traverse its dramatic landscape of looming mountains, ancient walled towns, primeval forests, coastlines and everything in between.

AMAN SVETI STEFAN

Once the summer residence of Queen Marija Karadjordjevic, Villa Milocer overlooks the Adriatic Sea and is embraced on three sides by dense forests of cedar, pine and olive trees. A fortified village dating back to the fifteenth century, the island of Sveti Stefan is a uniquely atmospheric setting of cobbled lanes, handsome courtyards and serene sea views. Attached to the coast by a narrow isthmus, Sveti Stefan lies across the bay from Villa Milocer. Together these historic sites comprise Aman Sveti Stefan.

SUITES

On Sveti Stefan island, hand-restored stone buildings house the 50 Rooms, Cottages and Suites, each one individually styled to showcase original details and to harmonise with the centuries of history that give the isle its inimitable charm. The path is uphill for the first 40 minutes, through a narrow pebble road, made long ago by members of Pastrovici tribe. On reaching the summit, the path starts to widen, leading to the 15th century St. Sava Church, located at the peak.

Lake Skadar: Encircled by mountains and topped with water lilies, the glassy expanse of Lake Skadar is the largest freshwater body in Southern Europe, and home to more than 280 species of bird - include rarely seen creatures such as the Dalmatian pelican and the Black ibis. Together with the nearly overhanging limestone cliffs of Orjen and Lovćen, Kotor and its surrounding area form an impressive and picturesque Mediterranean landscape. Kotor has one of the best-preserved medieval old towns in the Adriatic and is a Unesco world heritage site. Stroll the cobbled streets and explore the medieval maze of museums, churches and cafe-strewn squares.

Have lunch at a local casual restaurant in Kotor on your own.

Alternately, drive to Radevic Winery (approximately 1 hour 15 minutes) and enjoy a wine tasting.

Radevic Winery: Discover Vranac ('black stallion'), one of the oldest and least-known grape varieties in the world – a distant ancestor of zinfandel and primitivo. On his vineyard estate outside Podgorica, winemaker Goran Radevic cultivates Vranac vines, transforming the coal-black grapes into powerful, earthy wines of great character and complexity – and the signature 48 wine of Aman Sveti Stefan. Situated on a gentle rise surrounded by undulating olive groves, Amanzoe's 360-degree views take in the Peloponnese countryside and rocky coves. Designed by renowned architect, the late Ed Tuttle, Amanzoe's design is influenced by classical Greek architecture, reminiscent of the Ancient Greek Agora and the Acropolis.

For your touring, you may choose to visit either Epidaurus or the Acropolis, due to time constraints. If you wish to visit Epidaurus, you will need to depart Amanzoe at 08:30. If you opt to visit the Acropolis, you can depart Amanzoe at 10:00.

Epidaurus: Along the way to Athens, stop at Epidaurus Ancient Theatre, which sits within the Sanctuary of Asklepios, one of the most extensive sacred sanctuaries in ancient Greece. The theatre is the best-preserved monument of the Sanctuary. Athletic and artistic contests were held at the Sanctuary in honour of Asklepios, the god of medicine. The original layout of the Epidaurus Theatre stage shows that it was intended for the performance of dramatic works at the level of the orchestra. During the second phase, actors would have performed on a raised proscenium, leaving the orchestra for the chorus.

Acropolis of Athens: Visit the ancient citadel, built in the fifth century BCE, that sits above the city of Athens. While at the Acropolis, explore its many famous structures. To the south of the entrance is the tiny Temple of Athena Nike. At the centre of the Acropolis is the Parthenon or Temple of Athena Parthenos (Athena the Virgin). East of the entrance and north of the Parthenon is the temple known as the Erechtheum. South of the platform that forms the top of the Acropolis there are also the remains of an outdoor theatre called Theatre of Dionysus. A few hundred metres away, there is the now partially reconstructed Odeon of Herodes Atticus.

14:00-15:30: Private jet to Venice (2 hours 30 minutes, -1 hour time difference).

VENICE, ITALY

Situated across a group of 118 small islands separated by canals and linked by bridges, Venice has long been a popular and unique destination. Renowned for its splendid architecture, artworks, classical music, landscapes, gondolas, the alternance of high and low tides, the reflections of light and colours, and the unusual daily scenes in a city living on water, Venice is a designated Unesco World Heritage Site that beckons travellers from across the globe.

AMAN VENICE

As sumptuous and romantic as the city itself, Aman Venice – set in a sixteenth-century palazzo on the Grand Canal – is home to museum-quality treasures including Tiepolo frescoes, gilded ceilings and centuries-old leather wall coverings. More home than hotel, Aman Venice offers the rare privilege of space in the centre of the Floating City. High ceilings and spacious light-filled salons are joined by two mature outdoor private gardens – a rarity in the city. Moments of beauty are everywhere, from St Mark's Basilica to chance encounters with a door embellishment or fresco.

ROOMS & SIGNATURE ROOMS

Aman Venice's Rooms and Signature Rooms, which vary in size and configuration, feature works by a number of Italy's greatest artists - including sixteenth-century architect Sansovino and eighteenth-century painter Tiepolo. Contemporary furnishings complement authentic silk wall coverings, chandeliers, wood panelling, chinoiserie and painted ceilings, while many suites offer Grand Canal views.

RESTAURANTS

A sweeping staircase rises through two levels to the piano nobile, where the Ballroom looks out over the Grand Canal and leads to the Bar and the Yellow and Blue Dining Rooms. With a magnificent fireplace and Cesare Rotta ceiling mural, the Yellow Dining Room overlooks the canal, while the Bar features silk wall coverings and views of the hotel's canal-side garden, where an alfresco dining venue is available in summer months. Open for lunch and dinner, Arva channels Italy's cucina semplice culinary tradition, transforming fresh, seasonal ingredients into dishes that celebrate simplicity and flavour. Welcoming and convivial, the restaurant offers guests an authentic, sustainable dining experience, inspired by the timeless and inventive heritage of Italian cooking.

Aman Venice, Palazzo Bedroom (Venice, Italy)

Included Meals: B D

Breakfast: Enjoy breakfast at the Restaurant.

TODAY'S SUGGESTED EXPERIENCES:

Explore Venice with your private boat, captain and guide.

Piazza San Marco: Also known as St Mark's Square, this famous square is the social, religious and political centre of the city. It is commonly seen in movies as the square with flocks of pigeons.

St Mark's Basilica: At the eastern end of the Square is the imposing St Mark's Basilica, a cathedral church of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Venice. It is the most famous church in the city and one of the best-known examples of Italo-Byzantine architecture. It is also known as the Church of Gold for its opulent design and gold ground mosaics, and served as a status symbol of Venice's wealth and power.

Doge's Palace: Connected to St Mark's Basilica is the Doge's Palace. By the fourteenth century, the hierarchy of Venice decided that a grand palace was needed, a building befitting the city's new wealth and power. The palace became the residence of the Doge of Venice, the supreme authority of the former Republic of Venice, opening as a museum in 1923.

Torre dell'Orologio Clock Tower: On the north side of the Square stands the Clock Tower at the entrance to the Merceria, which links the Square to the commercial and financial centre. Both the tower and clock date back to the fifteenth century, although the clock's mechanisms have been updated over time.

Gondola Ride on the Grand Canal: Take a gondola on the Grand Canal. The banks of the Grand Canal are lined with more than 170 buildings, most of which date from the thirteenth to the eighteenth centuries and demonstrate the wealth and art created by the Republic of Venice. The noble Venetian families faced huge expenses to show off their richness in suitable palazzos; this contest reveals the citizens' pride and the deep bond with the lagoon.

Rialto Market: Foodies must make a stop at the Rialto Market, where Venetians have been buying their daily supplies of fish, vegetables, fruit and other foodstuffs since 1097. Jump in amid the hustle and bustle of vendors hawking their wares, workers unloading crates of produce from barges, restaurant chefs examining fish and creating their menu du jour, and delivery men zipping around with handcarts laden with produce. It's best to arrive early to see the vegetable and fish markets in full swing.

Museums and Galleries: Also known as the Gallerie dell'Accademia di Venezia, the Academy Gallery Museum of Art is Venice's premiere art museum and houses masterpieces by Venetian greats of the Renaissance period such as Giovanni Bellini, Giorgione, Titian, Tintoretto, Veronese and more. To see one of Italy's finest collections of modern art, step next door to Peggy Guggenheim's Museum of Modern Art. The American heiress's personal collection contains works by Pablo Picasso, Salvador Dali, Jackson Pollock and many more. There are numerous other notable museums and galleries such as Ca'Rezzonico, Museo di Storia Naturale, Museo Correr, Ca' d'Oro, La Bottega dei Mascareri, and more. Speak to your guide for further suggestions.

Churches: There are over 100 churches across the sprawling city, running the gamut of Byzantine, medieval, Renaissance and Baroque architecture. Titian admirers should visit the Frari (Chiesa di Santa Maria Gloriosa dei Frari) to see his altar painting of the Assumption of Mary, the Pesaro Madonna, and his actual tomb. The Madonna dell'Orto, tucked away in northern Venice, is the parish church of Renaissance artist Tintoretto and where visitors can view his pieces and his tomb. Across the bridge is the home studio where the artist lived and painted. Santa Maria della Salute sits at the entrance of the Grand Canal, built in memoriam to the lives lost to and Venice's victory over the Black Death in 1630. Speak to your guide for further suggestions.

Shopping: Venice has a long history of artisanship, and within its large city are shops and boutiques dedicated to quality items alongside the typical myriad of souvenir stores. The most famous craftworks from Venice are Murano glass, carnival masks and Burano sweets. Bibliophiles should make a stop at Libreria Acqua Alta, a bookshop where books are stacked on bathtubs and gondolas, and a purveyor of obscure literature about Venice. Speak to your guide for specific suggestions.

Farewell Cocktails and Dinner - 18:00: Enjoy final farewell cocktails and dinner with your travel group.

TOUR LEADER

Catherine E. Heald
CEO and Co-Founder of Remote Lands

Catherine is an adventurer, an Asiaphile, and a serial entrepreneur. She describes her greatest fear in life as mediocrity, and her second greatest as boredom and the combination as the stimulus for Remote Lands. A former software engineer and technology entrepreneur, she considers herself lucky to have found her true calling at the age of 42, and to have been able to turn her life's passion for Asian travel into her profession.

Some of her most memorable travel experiences include having a private lunch with the Queen of Bhutan in her palace; a magical New Year's Eve in Mongolia sharing a ger with a nomad family at -35°F; hiking to far-flung hill tribe villages off the grid in eastern Myanmar; off-piste skiing in Gulmarg, Kashmir, in 1989; trekking alone in the Everest region of Nepal; taking a private helicopter up to view the peak of the third highest mountain in the world, Kanchenjunga in Sikkim; cruising in Siberia from the Arctic Circle to Vladivostok in a Russian icebreaker; chartering a private plane to visit remote corners of the Gobi Desert and eastern Mongolia; getting married in an Iban tribal longhouse in Borneo, a Hindu temple in Kerala, and a Buddhist temple in Bhutan; and traveling solo across North Korea.

Catherine (née Evans) graduated from Shady Side Academy in Pittsburgh, and then headed to New York to attend Columbia University (Barnard College) in 1980. This was the first year Columbia offered Computer Science as a major, and her instinct told her computers would become increasingly integral into business and life in general. She earned her BA in Computer Science in 1984 and then spent four years writing code for Wall Street's L.F. Rothschild, Unterberg, Towbin while attending NYU's Stern School of Business, but she left for Hong Kong before earning her MBA.

She lives with her husband, Donald Heald, a collector and purveyor of rare books and manuscripts, and their white Labrador, Bali, on Manhattan's Upper East Side and in Sherman, CT. Her proudest accomplishments include having been the youngest female CEO of a publicly traded American company at age 33 (as Catherine Winchester); being featured onstage with Bill Gates in two of his major keynote speeches in 1991 and 1993; and finishing the 1985 NYC Marathon in 101st place with a time of 3:17. She still runs 40 miles a week, albeit rather slowly now, and credits running and the self-discipline she learned from daily training as being the foundation for all her achievements in life.
