NINH THUAN, VIETNAM

Well known for its natural beauty, crystal blue coastlines and white pearly sand, the area of Ninh Thuan Province has one of Vietnam's most beautiful shorelines and notably includes Nui Chua National Park. Sandy beaches like Ninh Chu and Vinh Hy line the coast. Coral reefs fringe Nui Chua National Park in the north-east.

AMANOI

Perched over Vinh Hy Bay, where pristine jungle tumbles into crystal-clear waters, this secluded retreat inspires both adventure and serenity. Home to some of the world's most diverse wildlife, there is much to explore here: the private beach sloping towards forests of colourful coral, and the protected wilderness hugging 32 kilometres of coastline. Less tangible but equally powerful paths of discovery are uncovered in the healing philosophy of the Aman Spa, and in pioneering Wellness Villas that offer the prospect of total wellness immersion in this exceptionally beautiful setting.

PAVILIONS & VILLAS

From their curving roofs peeping above the treeline to their latticed windows and discreet natural materials, Amanoï's Pavilions and Villas are at one with their magnificent surroundings. They draw on the grace and artful simplicity of Vietnamese design, offering combined bedroom and living areas, and large bathrooms that open onto spacious decks. The Villas enjoy private pools and expansive views.

DINING, WELLBEING & FACILITIES

Inside the restaurant soaring columns and sloping rooflines frame the surroundings, while at the Beach Club meals are served beside the pristine sand, accompanied by the gentle sounds of the surf. Fresh fish from the azure waters of Vinh Hy Bay takes prominence on the menu. Delivered daily directly from the fishing boats, the fish are cooked simply and complemented by other locally sourced ingredients as well as panoramic views over the bay and rolling hills. Amanoï's Spa provides access to modern equipment as well as the full range of traditional East Asian spa treatments.

11:00-13:10: Private jet from Cam Ranh, Vietnam to Luang Prabang, Laos (2 hours 10 minutes).

Lunch: Will be served on board the jet during this flight.

LAOS

Laos is a country of astounding physical beauty, kind-hearted people and fascinating culture. The Buddhist nation is also one of the most undeveloped and least-visited countries in the world — making it quite alluring to the adventurous traveller. Like Cambodia and Vietnam, Laos was a French colony, but it has remained much more isolated than the other two countries of former Indochina, in part because of its landlocked location between Thailand, Myanmar, China, Vietnam and Cambodia. Luang Prabang, Laos's majestic crown jewel, is a Unesco World Heritage Site with gorgeous palaces and temples on the banks of the Mekong river. The charming town was founded in the seventh century as the capital of the Kingdom of Luang Prabang, and was subsequently the capital of the Kingdom of Laos, which is now a communist state.

AMANTAKA, LUANG PRABANG

The pace of Luang Prabang is seductively slow. Observe the ebb and flow of the mighty Mekong, and see flashes of saffron as the Buddhist monks tread softly between temples in Laos's spiritual capital, a well-preserved Unesco World Heritage Site. Overlooking the town at the foot of sacred Mount Phousi, the French colonial building retains a genteel tranquillity from the past, whereas private pools and an expansive state-of-the-art spa keep contemporary souls in their comfort zone.

SUITES

Entered through louvered doors, Amantaka's suites offer light-filled living and sleeping areas, their lofty ceilings sheltering a central kingsize bed. Bathrooms feature twin vanities, dressing areas, showers, toilets and separate island bathtubs. Each suite's living space and bedroom opens onto an outdoor area shaded by indigenous trees, leading, in selected suites, to a private pool.

DINING

Using time-honoured ingredients and techniques, Amantaka's menu showcases small dishes of Laotian food that are served together to make up a traditional Lao meal. Locally grown produce features prominently. Meals are enjoyed in the airy Dining Room or at the Pool Terrace - or shared at a Lao barbecue, complete with dancing troupe in traditional costumes.

Day 3

Monday, 8 November 2021

Amantaka, Suite (Luang Prabang, Laos)

Included Meals: B L D

13:10: Arrive in Luang Prabang, Laos by private jet (2 hours 10 minutes).

Visa on Arrival: Please bring two passport-size photographs per person for your Laos visa on arrival.

Private transfer to Amantaka (approximately 30 minutes).

If you wish, head out to explore town with your private car, driver and guide.

TODAY'S SUGGESTED EXPERIENCES

Royal Palace: Visit the Royal Palace Museum, originally built during the French colonial era as a residence for King Sisavang. This fascinating museum features the original royal chambers, local artworks, the throne room and the royal vintage car collection.

Wat Mai Suwannaphumaham Temple: Visit the temple, known simply as Wat Mai. Close to the Royal Palace, the monastery was a former home of the royal family and was spared destruction during the Chinese Haw raid in 1887. One of the most striking features of Wat Mai is its five-tiered roof and the gilded relief panels adorning the façade.

Wat Phonphao Temple: From Wat Mai, it is a short journey to Wat Phonphao temple, the Peacefulness Temple. The temple is used as a forest meditation retreat and was once headed by the revered abbot Ajahn Saisamut.

Baci Ceremony and Welcome Dinner - 18:00:

Gather and enjoy a traditional Baci ceremony with special guest Prince Tiao Nithakhong Somsanith. The ceremony is most often held to celebrate a special event such as a marriage, a homecoming or a birth. Afterwards, have a welcome dinner poolside.

Day 4

Tuesday, 9 November 2021

Amantaka, Suite (Luang Prabang, Laos)

Included Meals: B and L or D

TODAY'S OPTIONAL SHARED EXPERIENCE

MandaLao: Drive one hour to MandaLao to visit a reserve for rescued and domesticated elephants, departing Amantaka at 06:45.

TODAY'S SUGGESTED EXPERIENCES

Almsgiving: Rise at 05:00 to take part in the tradition of offering alms to monks, also known as Tak Bat. At sunrise your guide will escort you to a location on a nearby street where you can participate in greeting a procession of monks as they make their way to homes and shops to receive their daily rice, an event of great importance for Lao Buddhists.

While the parade of monks in orange robes on Luang Prabang's main street is quite a sight, there is also a smaller file of monks who proceed along Amantaka's street, if you wish for a more intimate experience with fewer tourists.

Local Market: Walk through a local market where you will see vendors hawking produce ranging from the mundane, like local fruits and vegetables, to the exotic.

Breakfast: Head back to Amantaka for breakfast before stepping out for further touring.

Pak Ou Caves: Board a small, comfortable boat for a two-hour voyage up the Mekong river. Visit the Pak Ou Caves, famed for housing more than ten thousand statues of the Buddha in a huge cavern overlooking the Mekong. Because an image of the Buddha cannot be destroyed, for hundreds of years damaged Buddhas have been retired to these caves. The lower cave holds the vast majority, but you will also get the chance to see the upper cave, the starting point for the one-hour trek to a local village. Before leaving the caves it is customary to make an offering and the locals who protect and maintain the site greatly appreciate any donation.

Ban Muang Khaeo: Hike to the village of Ban Muang Khaeo, just around the corner from the rock face of the Pak Ou Caves.

Return to Luang Prabang for further exploration.

Lunch: Either lunch or dinner is included at Amantaka. Enjoy your remaining meal at your leisure and pay directly.

Kuang Si Waterfall: A favourite of visitors to Luang Prabang, the Kuang Si falls feature three tiers and a 180-foot drop. Please note that you may bring a bathing suit and swim while you are here.

Big Brother Mouse: An organisation devoted to Lao children, here you can purchase books and gift them to the local children, many of whom have nothing to read.

Traditional Arts and Ethnology Centre: This independent, non-profit museum is dedicated to the various ethnic cultures of Laos. The museum displays and sells a number of local handicrafts, and the centre is also involved in the research, preservation and documentation of cultural artefacts, as well as outreach and education projects and employment development.

SUGGESTED ALTERNATE EXPERIENCE

Hill Tribes: Learn about the hill tribes of Laos, spending the day visiting local groups like the Tai Lue, Khmu and Akha Erpa. These tribal people live in villages almost completely unconnected with the outside world; their homes are hand-built, their clothing is often very traditional, and their food is either grown by them, caught by them, or foraged by them. They are not Buddhist like the rest of Laos, but instead practice a native religion that combines their traditional beliefs in nature spirits and Taoist ideas imported from China.

After touring, return to the hotel to relax before dinner.

Spa: If you wish, book a treatment at the Aman Spa at your leisure, on your own account.

Dinner: Either lunch or dinner is included at Amantaka. Enjoy your remaining meal at your leisure and pay directly.

SUGGESTED INDEPENDENT EVENING EXPERIENCE

Hmong Night Market: If you wish to step out this evening on your own, take a postprandial stroll through the colourful stalls of Hmong Night Market, where local hill-tribe people sell their vibrant textiles and other handmade creations every evening. Open until 21:00.

Day 5

Wednesday, 10 November 2021

Amansara, Courtyard Suite (Siem Reap, Cambodia)

Included Meals: B L D

Breakfast from 07:30: Enjoy breakfast at the Restaurant.

10:30: Private transfer to the airport (30 minutes).

12:00-13:35: Private jet from Luang Prabang, Laos to Siem Reap, Cambodia (1 hour 35 minutes).

Lunch: Will be served on board the jet during this flight.

CAMBODIA

The Kingdom of Cambodia has rightfully become a traveller's mecca due to the magnificent cultural heritage of Siem Reap. In addition to Angkor Wat, one of the great man-made wonders of the world, and other remarkable temples throughout the Angkor area, the heart of the country also offers natural marvels like Boeung Tonlé Sap, Cambodia's vast freshwater lake, which sustains a unique culture of floating villages. Angkor was the capital of the powerful Khmer Empire which controlled most of Indochina (the former French colonies of Laos, Vietnam and Cambodia) from the eleventh to the fourteenth centuries. In addition to this region, there is the French colonial heritage of the capital, Phnom Penh, the authentic rural life of Battambang and excellent beach destinations, like Kep, along the southern coast. The scars of war under Pol Pot and the Khmer Rouge have healed a lot in the past 30 years, and today Cambodia is a lovely Buddhist constitutional monarchy of extremely gracious people, delicious cuisine and rich cultural history.

AMANSARA, SIEM REAP

Once a residence for guests of the king, Amansara is a masterpiece of 1960s New Khmer architecture - an unabashedly modern style. A careful and sensitive restoration brought the building back to its former glory, retaining the original single-level layout, curvilinear pool and monochrome minimalism. Gardens and a canopy of mature trees create an introspective atmosphere, continued in the Suites, which open onto private courtyards and ponds. Custom itineraries lead guests intuitively towards less-explored destinations - cycling through crowd-free ruins, meditating amid ancient forest or cruising to the floating villages of Tonlé Sap lake.

SUITES

Finished in pale terrazzo and timber, Amansara's Suites offer a combined bedroom and living area which steps down into a light-filled bathroom with an island bathtub. Floor-to-ceiling glass doors open to a private garden courtyard with sun loungers, a reflection pond and, in 12 Suites, a private plunge pool. Sandstone reliefs reference the famed ruins of Angkor temples just minutes away.

DINING

Amansara's sleek circular restaurant offers Cambodian-centred cuisine under soaring ceilings, or outdoors at pergola-shaded tables by the pool. The daily changing menus focus on simple flavours, using organic produce direct from the market and local suppliers. For a unique experience, private dining is available at the resort's rustic Khmer house at Angkor, where meals are prepared over charcoal to the sounds and sights of village life.

Day 5

Wednesday, 10 November 2021

Amansara, Courtyard Suite (Siem Reap, Cambodia)

Included Meals: B L D

13:35: Arrive Siem Reap, Cambodia (1 hour 35 minutes).

Visa on Arrival: Please bring two passport-size photos (2x2" with white backgrounds) per person for use in your visa. Please note that photo booths are available in the airport for visa purposes in case you forget your photos.

Private transfer to Amansara (30 minutes).

TODAY'S SUGGESTED EXPERIENCES

Ta Prohm: This ruined temple dates back to 1186 and has been intentionally given over to the jungle. The resulting atmosphere is hauntingly beautiful, and not to be missed during your visit to Siem Reap. Ta Prohm is very much an active archaeological site, as well; in 2011, workers unearthed two headless stone statues, the larger of which stands 10 feet high. Both date from the 12th century and are the biggest excavated finds since the 1930s.

Angkor Thom: This massive complex was, in a bygone era, the seat of King Jayavarman VII's mighty Khmer empire. The Bayon - the site's central temple - is a marvel of "baroque" Khmer architecture, constructed as the king's official state temple. The Bayon blends Hindu and Buddhist iconography, and its several terraces host 54 towers with massive human faces carved into their stone façades. Their peacefully smiling visages are said to resemble Jayavarman VII himself.

Fashion Show and Cocktails - 17:00: Arrive at haute couture designer Eric Raisina's atelier for cocktails, champagne, and a special private fashion show.

Dinner: Have dinner at Amansara. Dinner is included at Amansara, but if you wish to dine outside of the hotel, you will pay directly.

Day 6

Thursday, 11 November 2021

Amansara, Courtyard Suite (Siem Reap, Cambodia)

Included Meals: B L D

TODAY'S SUGGESTED EXPERIENCES

Morning pick-up time: 05:00

Morning return time: 07:00

Sunrise at Angkor Wat: With your private guide, get close up to Angkor Wat where your first impressions of the monuments' grandeur at daybreak will be relatively private. Angkor Wat has become one of the world's most famous attractions, on a par with the Great Wall of China and the Taj Mahal. Built in the twelfth century as the capital of King Suryavarman II's kingdom, it is the largest and best-preserved of the Angkor temples, and the only one to have remained a significant religious centre (first Hindu, then Buddhist) since its founding.

Breakfast: Return to Amansara for breakfast and relaxation before stepping out for further touring.

Second pick-up time: 11:00

Second return time: 18:00

TODAY'S SHARED EXPERIENCE

Helicopter over Angkor Wat: Proceed to the airport for your private helicopter aerial tour of Siem Reap. This bird's-eye view of the Angkor area is a terrific complement to your exploring on the ground. Your 30-minute helicopter flight path provides a thrilling experience of the Angkor region, especially Angkor Wat, western and eastern Barays, Prasat Kravan, Sras Srong, Pre Rup, and the eastern Mebon temple. The helicopter is a French-manufactured turbine engine AS350 Squirrel with seating for five passengers plus pilot. All maintenance procedures comply with the highest international civil aviation standards (and in particular conform to New Zealand Civil Aviation Authority regulations) and all passengers are covered by a comprehensive insurance package. Pilots have expert knowledge of Cambodian flying conditions and love to share the experience of Angkor-from-above with visitors.

Afterwards, return to Siem Reap.

Lunch: Head back to Amansara for lunch before stepping out for further touring. Lunch is included at Amansara, but if you wish to dine outside of the hotel, you will pay directly.

TODAY'S SUGGESTED EXPERIENCES

Old Market: Go to the Psar Chaa (Old Market), a unique and intriguing bazaar where one can hunt for wood and stone carvings, silk, Buddha images, and other handmade Cambodian souvenirs in this wonderful vending labyrinth. The gracious Khmer merchants will help you find what you want, even if it means going to a competitor.

Angkor National Museum: Explore the Angkor National Museum, which opened in 2007. This engaging museum features various Hindu and Buddhist statues and artifacts from the Angkor temples and surrounding area, scale models of different temple complexes, and multimedia exhibits.

Rural Water Well Development: Fund the building of a water well for a Cambodian family through the Cambodian Child's Dream Organization (CCDO). Each water well & filter provides a family and its immediate neighbors with easily accessible hand pumped clean water. On average about 11 people use each water well, and without these wells villagers ultimately travel long distances to retrieve water from pools and streams. After construction of the well is completed you will have the opportunity to meet the family and have your photo taken together in front of the newly constructed well. Additional donation.

APOPO Visitor Center: APOPO is a Belgian non-profit that has developed a unique approach to clearing landmines: rats. Southern giant pouched rats, to be more specific. These heroic rodents are trained for months to be able to accurately identify the scent of TNT, enabling them to notify their handlers in the field to the presence of a landmine. The rats' body weight is low enough that they do not set off the landmines' pressure triggers, thereby making the demining process much safer, both for the rats and for their human handlers. The Visitor Center offers tours, demonstrations of the rat's training exercises, and conversations with the brave people working to make the Cambodian countryside safe from the scourge of anti-personnel mines.

Spa: If you wish, book a treatment at the Aman Spa at your leisure, on your own account.

18:00: Meet in the lobby for departure (45-minute transfer).

Private Temple Dinner - 19:00: Enjoy a private dinner of gourmet Khmer cuisine on the grounds of Banteay Samré. Drinks will precede your multi-course meal, and the evening will include a performance of traditional Cambodian dance.

Day 7

Friday, 12 November 2021

Amanpuri, Garden Pavilion (Phuket, Thailand)

Included Meals: B L D

Breakfast from 07:30: Enjoy breakfast at the Restaurant.

10:30: Private transfer to the airport (30 minutes).

12:00-13:50: Private jet from Siem Reap to Phuket (1 hour 50 minutes).

Lunch: Will be served on board the jet during this flight.

PHUKET, THAILAND

Phuket is the largest island in Thailand and sports fine beaches, constant sunshine, and an enviable proximity to a multitude of attractions and dive sites – among them the Similan Islands, Koh Phi Phi and the limestone peaks of Phang Nga Bay.

AMANPURI

Scattered with coconut palms overlooking the Andaman Sea, the Amanpuri peninsula on Phuket's west coast provides a peaceful enclave in which to relax and rejuvenate in complete privacy. The Ayutthayan-style upturned roofs of the guest pavilions shelter sleek, spacious interiors, their contemporary appeal matched by the array of globally influenced venues for dining and entertainment – with cuisines and cocktails originating from South America, Japan and Italy, as well as Southeast Asia. Witness spectacular sunrises practicing yoga outdoors, or lose days on the private beach, where a fleet of boats lies ready to whisk guests away to dive sites and neighbouring islands.

PAVILIONS & VILLAS

Set on a hillside overlooking a secluded white-sand beach on Phuket's west coast, Amanpuri's Pavilions are elegant and contemporary with oversized bathrooms and spacious dressing areas. Coconut palms cast tropical shadows onto private terraces, each with an outdoor lounging sala. Views are of the gardens or the ocean, and a number of Pavilions offer private pools. Amanpuri's Villas lie towards the tip of the peninsula, with ocean-front or garden settings. With a choice of two to nine bedrooms, extensive living and dining areas are arranged around a private swimming pool. Interiors feature Thai furnishings, art and antiques, and live-in staff attend to guests' every need.

DINING, WELLBEING & FACILITIES

Dine at your choice of Japanese, Thai, Italian and South American restaurants and enjoy the Beach Club. Open seasonally for lunch, Amanpuri's Beach Club restaurant is reminiscent of a bustling food market, showcasing the freshest catch of the day and prime meats, grilled to order, along with wood-fired pizzas and a vibrant array of Mediterranean salads.

At the Aman Spa, natural herb-infused treatments are offered in six light-filled pavilions that include a private steam room, shower, bath and outdoor meditation sala. These are joined by a gym and Pilates studio with panoramic views, a yoga and meditation pavilion, and four floodlit tennis courts.

She earned her BA in Computer Science in 1984 and then spent four years writing code for Wall Street's L.F. Rothschild, Unterberg, Towbin while attending NYU's Stern School of Business, but she left for Hong Kong before earning her MBA.

She lives with her husband, Donald Heald, a collector and purveyor of rare books and manuscripts, and their white Labrador, Bali, on Manhattan's Upper East Side and in Sherman, CT. Her proudest accomplishments include having been the youngest female CEO of a publicly traded American company at the age of 33 (as Catherine Winchester); being featured onstage with Bill Gates in two of his major keynote speeches in 1991 and 1993; and finishing the 1985 NYC Marathon in 101st place with a time of 3:17. She still runs 40 miles a week, albeit rather slowly now, and credits running and the self-discipline she learned from daily training as being the foundation for all her achievements in life.
