Fact Sheet

Set in spiritual Siem Reap, Amansara acts as a key cultural hub in Cambodia's most storied city, just 10 minutes from Unesco-listed Angkor Wat. A masterpiece of 1960s New Khmer architecture commissioned by King Norodom Sihanouk for his guests, today the residence houses 24 contemporary Suites, along with a soaring circular dining room and a holistic spa. The original pool has been replicated amid tranquil mature grounds, and many of the Suites feature private gardens and plunge pools, adding to the introspective atmosphere. Custom-fitted remorks (rickshaws) and vintage Jeeps whisk guests and their private guides to Angkor, where Amansara's Khmer Village House provides respite and rustic meals within the archaeological complex.

Activities & Excursions

Amansara provides a varied menu of activities throughout the seasons, including cultural exploration at the UNESCO-protected ruins of the Angkor Empire, offering privileged access to the spiritual and historic riches of the world's largest temple complex. You can explore the site on foot, by bicycle, or in a custom-fitted remork. Additionally, you can take a cruise among the time-frozen floating villages of Tonlé Sap lake and discover the rich Buddhist culture of Siem Reap, directly from the monks who shape it.

Angkor and beyond

- Personalised itineraries are prepared for each guest, with suggestions for daily outings combining temple excursions with cultural activities
- Guests are provided with knowledgeable, Aman-trained guides and private transportation – by remork for excursions to Angkor Park, and by vintage Jeep or air conditioned car for trips into the countryside or further afield
- Schedules are organised to avoid the crowds and the midday heat, for capturing the area at its finest on camera
- Daily excursions include sunrise at Angkor Wat, the jungle temple of Ta Prohm, the stone faces of Bayon temple, the pre-Angkorian temples of Roluos, and Banteay Srei
- Helicopter flights can be arranged for visiting remoter sites, such as Preah Vihear and Banteay Chhmar. Other temples, such as Beng Mealea and Koh Ker, lie within a 90-minute drive from Amansara; each can be visited on a full day's excursion
- Amansara will be delighted to connect guests with organisations that support the local community

Cycling

- Siem Reap is easily navigated and guests can use mountain and town bicycles to explore the town and nearby villages
- Cycle along the river road, taking in the old French quarter, 18th-century pagodas and the bustling old market area, or head out into the picturesque countryside along palm-lined paths, past temple ruins and rice paddies

Boat

- Explore Southeast Asia's largest freshwater lake, Tonlé Sap, aboard one of Amansara's wooden motorboats, Amanbala I and II
- Observe daily life at the lake's villages – stilted or floating, depending on the season – and the rich and varied plant, fish and bird life that make this Unesco-protected biosphere reserve one of the world's most valuable ecosystems
