Six-Bedroom Ridge Villa
Fact Sheet

Six-Bedroom Ridge Villa

Resting on nine acres of secluded desert terrain, Amangiri's Six-Bedroom Ridge Villa reveals itself as a private sanctuary, offering a profound connection to Utah's otherworldly landscapes. Designed by Marwan Al-Sayed of Masastudio, one of the resort's original visionaries, the villa reflects Amangiri's iconic modernist silhouette with its low-lying, concrete structure rising discreetly from the untamed wilds that it calls home.

Spanning over 12,000 square feet, the villa's architecture is linked by shaded terraces and walled gardens that frame unobstructed views of sandstone cliffs while offering shelter from the sun-drenched surrounds. Meanwhile, inside, glass walls invite the outdoors in; towering rock formations becoming part of the backdrop to everyday living.

Elsewhere, natural materials such as blonde walnut, stained cypress and stone reference the palette of the surrounding terrain, further connecting guests to the raw beauty of their environment. Oculus skylights, inspired by Utah's slot canyons, drench the space with natural light, carving sculptural shadows as day turns to night, while the villa's own dedicated spa with private fitness room, steam room and sauna ensures Aman's holistic approach to wellness remains at the heart of the experience.

For socialising, generous open-plan living and dining areas seamlessly flow into an expansive outdoor terrace, creating effortless entertaining spaces, while a 36-metre (117-foot) swimming pool and covered lounge oriented toward the cliffs provides the perfect base for afternoons together in the sunshine. Ensuring each guest ample downtime, the villa houses six, ensuite bedrooms, alongside one primary with its own private terrace and courtyard pool.

Throughout each stay, the dedicated service of a villa host ensures every detail is taken care of. Guests enjoy full board dining at Amangiri's restaurants (at the Resort and Camp Sarika), while bespoke meals prepared by a private chef can also be arranged at the villa upon request. Full access to Amangiri's amenities, from the Aman Spa to its programme of guided desert experiences, awaits just moments away, allowing groups of friends, family or colleagues to tailor their stay entirely to their individual preferences.
